

Joe Clough

The first black bus driver in Britain

By Lemur Class

Joe Clough

The first black bus driver in Britain

Joe Clough

The first black bus driver in Britain

Facts that children have found out about Joe Clough's life:

'He was born in Jamaica in 1887 and his first job was looking after ponies.' Lucas

'He moved to London and became the first black British bus driver.' Harry

'In the war he drove an ambulance.' Archie

'He had a wife called Margaret and two children.' Lily

'People remembered that he was kind and had good manners.' Nancy

Joe Clough

The first black bus driver in Britain

Children's thoughts on what is special and important about Joe Clough:

'He was kind and respectful to people' Emilia

'He was brave and helped people in the war' Molly

'Being the first black British bus driver was amazing' Thomas

'He was brave and looked after horses and drove a car, a bus, ambulance and taxi' Lizzy

'He was respectful to people even when they were disrespectful' Jacob

Joe Clough

The first black bus driver in Britain

Children's reflections on why it is important to treat everybody equally:

'Do to others what you would have them do to you' Joshua

'So that everyone feels loved and special' Jacob

'We have differences but everyone is the same and equal.' Alice

'We need to treat everyone respectfully.' Molly

'Treat people how you want to be treated.' Archie