

Black History Month

- Tigers learned about Sislin Fay Allen

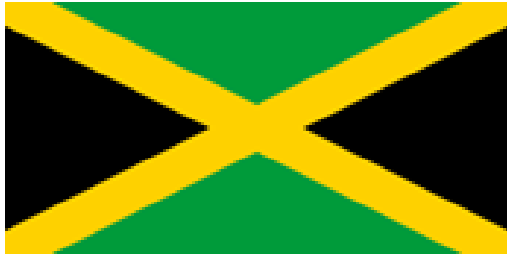

Sislin Fay Allen, a nurse at Croydon's Queens Hospital. She saw an advert in the newspaper for female and male police officers and she applied.

At the time there were no black women police officers.

Sislin Fay Allen was an inspiration for many when she became the Metropolitan Police's first black female police officer, based at Croydon in the late 1960s.

She joined the Jamaican police force and received a welcoming letter from the then Prime Minister.

Sislin Fay Allen was inspirational because she was the first female black police officer and she inspired others to not be stereotypical.
